Court Fixes A $151,205 Budget For '40

Division of Funds Placed Into Six Classifications

The county expenditures for the year 1940 will amount to a total of $151,205, according to a budget set up by the county court, which has been worked over carefully, and approved by the court as a body.

The county had on hand on January 1, cash in the amount of $17,690. The estimated revenue from tax sources is $152,410.00, making a total amount of cash available for the year of $170,410.00.

Ten per cent is the percentage suggested by state auditors to be deducted for possible delinquent taxes, therefore ten per cent of $170,410.00, or $17,041.00, deducted gives a net sum of $153,369.00 available for expenses.

The matter of the county paying the premium on the bonds of county officers has not been definitely decided, according to H. F. Fricke, presiding judge. The officers were permitted to add the amounts of the premiums to their office budgets, but according to Mr. Fricke it was not certain the county would meet that expense.

Last year the county paid the premium on the collector's bond. It was $1,585, a much larger sum than any of the other premiums which range as low as $15. The next high one, after the collector's is $175, that of the county treasurer.

Division of Funds

The money is divided according to six classifications as set forth by law. The amount of $15,100.00 has been designated for class 1, which takes care of insane patients in state hospitals; county persons in the state school, Tipton; sanatorium, Mount Vernon and Webb City; Industrial home for girls at Chillicothe and Tipton; reformatory for boys at Boonville; State Orphan Home, Carrollton and the costs of transporting patients to the state institutions.

Class 2 will have $19,400 to spend. This class includes the costs of elections, criminal court costs and those of the sheriff's office. This class shows an increase of $7,000 over last year because there will be additional expenses due to elections, which do not occur in years other than campaign years.

In the third class, which provided for road work, repair county machinery, salary and traveling expenses of the highway engineer, expenses of his office, and miscellaneous expense in connection with the upkeep of roads there is $93,100.00 to spend. This is an increase of $4,000 over the same class for last year due to the purchase of new machinery.

Most To Fourth Class

The largest sum, $63,180.00 has been set aside for the fourth class, salaries and fees of elective and appointee officers and employees, and books, stationery, postage and office supplies.

The sum of $41,723.00 will cover expenses in class five contingent and emergency expense, charity, expenses of the court house, publishing legal notices and other contingent expenses in connection with the paupers. An individual $2,000 for relief has been added to this class.

Legal obligations of the county furniture, office machines, bounties and other expenses, in class 6, will be met out of a fund of $24,920.00.

Seeks Extradition Of Slayer Suspect

EVERTON, Mo., Feb. 5.—(P)—Sheriff O. E. Killingsworth of Dade county went to Jefferson City today to seek extradition papers for the return to Missouri of a man whose capture he said ended a six-year search for a slaying suspect.

Killingsworth said he was informed Oral Reich, 31, sought as a suspect in the 1934 fatal beating of David McWherter, 66, a recluse, had been apprehended in Gooding, Idaho.

Reich disappeared following the arrest of Cecil Glenn who received an 11-year sentence in the McWherter slaying. Officers said he implicated Reich.

Commander In The Netherlands Resigns

THE HAGUE, Feb. 5.—(P)—General I. H. Reynnders resigned today as supreme commander of The Netherlands land and sea forces after having served five months, reportedly in disagreement with the government over military policy and reduced expenditures.

Legion Auxiliary To Meet

The American Legion Auxiliary, Post No. 16, will meet at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Woodmen-Maccabee hall.

New Secretary For Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—(P)—Robert Hutchison became executive secretary to Gov. Lloyd C. Stark today, completing a double shift occasioned by Robert E. Hollaway's campaign leave of absence from the Public Service Commission.

When Hollaway, a candidate for auditor, stepped out in obedience to Stark's order against office-seeking appointees holding state jobs, Edgar M. Eagan was given leave of absence as Stark's secretary to replace Hollaway.

Hutchison, a former Joplin newspaper man, was granted similar leave as publicity director of the Social Security Commission to take Eagan's place, "also on a temporary basis," the governor said.

His salary, like Eagan's, will be $300 a month.

'Farm Life' Better Than 'Home Life'

Art Winner Says Husband Hit Her With Hammer

MARSHALL, Mo., Feb. 5.—(P)—"Farm Life"—a picture she painted—brought Mrs. Percy Lewis, negro, a share of the national spotlight last summer but home life will take her into court tomorrow as a witness against her husband.

She charged he hit her with a hammer in an altercation in front of their home Saturday. Lewis, a veterinarian, was missing over the weekend but surrendered on a common assault charge this afternoon. He denied hitting his artist wife with a hammer, said he struck her on the back of the head with his fist after she picked up a car crank during an argument.

Hearing was set for tomorrow. Neither would comment on the cause of their quarrel. Mrs. Lewis was not seriously injured.

She achieved national notice and created a statewide artistic storm when her "Farm Life" admittedly lacking in perspective but notably brightened with aluminum paint and termed a masterpiece of "primitive" art by the judges, won first prize in the state fair painting contest at Sedalia last summer.

Woman Captures And Holds Burglar

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—(P)—Mrs. Lucius Grosse, 41, always boasted she had the "strength of a man" as a result of doing a man's job as a Salem, Mo., farm until she was 18 years old.

Last night a burglar broke into her home and fled with her husband's coat. She had gone to a drug store to notify police when her 14-year-old son, who had seen the burglar, told her the man was walking toward the store.

Mrs. Grosse stepped outside, grabbed the man's arm, pushed him against a wall and pinned his arms behind him. When the police arrived several minutes later, they found the man struggling in vain to get away.

Police described him as a 46-year-old ex-convict.

Federation of Labor Will Elect Officers Tuesday Night

The Sedalia Federation of Labor will hold its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in Labor Hall. At this meeting the annual election of officers will be held.

All officers of affiliated organizations are urged to attend this meeting as well as the regular delegates.

Present Road Taxes Short of Meeting Need

Planning Survey Report So Finds For The State

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—(P)—Present highway taxes "will fall short by approximately $90,000,000 of completing the needs" of Missouri's road system in the next ten years, a long-awaited highway planning survey report predicted today.

The survey—product of several years study by the State Highway Department and the United States Public Roads Administration—outlined a "minimum" road financing program for the state up to 1951 based upon analysis of present road conditions, traffic volume and revenue.

It reached these major conclusions:

1. Present revenues are inadequate.
2. The present rates of motor vehicle taxes are inequitable—"in 1938," it said, "passenger cars overpaid and trucks underpaid their share of ton-mile road use charges by about $4,500,000."
3. To cure these conditions, the report suggested:

1. Three cents a gallon gasoline tax—a penny above the present rate—is the "lowest that should be adopted."
2. Passenger car registration fees should be reduced and bus and truck charges drastically increased.

Both recommendations are in line with measures proposed but defeated—at the last session of the legislature. The car fee reduction, however, was not contained in the Citizens' Road Association's 3-cent plan which lost at the polls in 1938.

Tax Hiking Plan

During both the legislative and elective campaigns for higher gas taxes, the then-unfinished survey was a major factor. Opponents of increases insisted nothing should be done until its recommendations were made public.

Its release today came in the midst of gathering activity expected to result in another tax-hiking plan on next November's ballot.

The Highway Commission already has one such plan before it—calling for county court administration of the supplementary road program—but has not yet committed itself except to say it will "present some suggestions of its own for inclusion in any program."

Injured When Struck by Car

Thomas Bunn, 710 East Broadway, suffered painful injuries about 10:30 o'clock Sunday night, when he was struck by a "hit and run" driver.

Mr. Bunn was returning to his home, and was struck as he crossed south on Broadway at Hancock. Leonard Lobaugh, driving a taxicab picked him up, and helped him to his home, a few steps away. He was taken to the Bothwell hospital.

Bunn has a very bad injury to his left arm and other bruises and minor injuries to his body.

He is rate clerk for the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co.

The police are making an investigation this afternoon.

Quizzing Seems To Irritate FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 5.—(P)—President Roosevelt said at a press conference today he was getting tired of attempts to sound him out on a third term and that when anything was said it would be at a time of his choosing, and his alone.

Would Change Budget Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Representative Cochran (D-Mo) proposed today a bill which would prevent President Roosevelt from transmitting another budget to congress if he is not re-elected for a third term.

The proposal would change to Feb. 20 the date for transmission of the budget to congress in years in which a president is inaugurated. Present law requires submission of a budget by the President on the first day of the congressional session.

Under the so-called "lame duck" amendment the presidential term will start Jan. 20 while congress meets on Jan. 3. So unless the budget law is changed the outgoing chief executive would be required to submit a budget little more than two weeks before leaving office.

Soviet Russia Expelled By League Labor Group

GENEVA, Feb. 5.—(P)—The governing body of the International Labor office in a secret session today expelled Soviet Russia. The League of Nations' last December ousted Russia following her invasion of Finland.

E. M. Henry was appointed chairman of the "on to conference" committee, for the annual conference, and Dr. Cannaday chairman of the group meeting arrangements.

Confident Of Allied Victory

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—(P)—Alfred Duff Cooper, Britain's former lord of the admiralty, has three reasons why the allies will win the war and offers a solution to Europe's post-war problems—a federated continent patterned after the United States.

The three factors that insure an allied victory, he said last night, are the allies' command of the sea, assurance of a steady flow of materials and the unity of the British people as compared to the disunity in Germany.

Referring to Great Britain's examination of United States mails, Cooper said he believed "any country at war has the privilege of opening mails passing through its possessions with the view they might contain documents relative to the war."

Cooper, who addressed a liberal forum here, said he was convinced the dismissal of War Minister Hore-Belisha from the cabinet was not prompted by any differences of opinion between the minister and other officials, but probably was due to complaints received at the war office. He did not elaborate.

Truman Urges Clark Support

Hopes For Pledge Of Delegates For The Presidency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(P)—Senator Truman (D-Mo) said today he hoped the Missouri Democratic convention would pledge its national convention delegates to support Senator Clark (D-Mo) for the presidential nomination.

Truman in an interview expressed opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt. He added, however, he would support Mr. Roosevelt if the President were nominated again.

Increases Conjecture

Senator Harry S. Truman's outright plea for a Missouri delegation supporting Senator Bennett Champ Clark for the Democratic presidential nomination added another point of conjecture to the already complex U. S. senatorial primary picture.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, only outwardly avowed candidate to date besides Truman for the party's senatorial nomination urged several months ago an untruncated Democratic convention delegation friendly to Roosevelt.

His stand at that time was regarded by some observers as unfriendly to Clark, his long time personal friend. Since then Senator Clark has issued a statement in Washington lambasting the governor's political maneuvers.

The senior senator's humorous attack on the governor was followed by outward signs of unfriendliness between supporters of the two at rival Jackson day Democratic dinners in Springfield.

Friends of Senator Truman have intimated he might have the support of Clark in the senatorial primary. On the other hand observers pointed out that Truman had gone down the line with the administration on every

Good Eats For Pancake Day

F. M. "Pat" Henry, chairman of the supply committee for the Chamber of Commerce "Pancake Day," February 13, and his committee are working day and night, making arrangements for the supplies to be used, and to insure plenty of good eats for this event.

Mr. Henry says that regardless of how many enter the contest for eating the most pancakes, he will have plenty for all, as they have made arrangements with the Quaker company to have plenty of Aunt Jemima's pancake flour on hand for Claude Campbell's cooks, among whom are Frank Forler, M. D. Finke, Burney Butler and R. M. Bates.

Mr. Henry's committee says they will have plenty of clean plates, knives and forks to start this event, but it will be up to the diners, Rev. H. U. Campbell, Rev. R. W. Leazer, Rev. E. N. Garrett, Rev. O. J. Rumpf, Rabbi Barasch, I. H. Reed and others to keep them clean. Mr. Reed, of the Sedalia Water company has made them happy with the announcement that it will not be necessary to wash any glasses, for he wants everyone to drink lots of Sedalia's pure water and has on hand a supply of fancy paper individual drinking cups.

Conversation around the Chamber of Commerce is that some of the members, Heber U. Hunt, George H. Scruton, Ken Carson, Dan Carr, Howard Roberts, Chas. Schumate, Chet Wright, Stanton Hudson and G. A. Potter have been making themselves useful around their homes lately by serving the table, hoping to qualify as waiters on pancake day. Their wives admit they are really getting very good.

Finns Kill 500 Of Attacking Force Of Reds

Soviets Resort To Night Air Raids On Finnish Cities

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(P)—Reuters, British news agency, reported in a dispatch from Helsinki tonight that the Russian 18th division had been "annihilated" at Kitela, a short distance north of Lake Ladoga.

HELSINKI, Feb. 5.—(P)—Finnish forces northeast of Lake Ladoga killed more than 500 Russians soldiers and captured much booty in repulsing three new Russian attacks, the Finnish army declared in today's communique.

Two of the Russian attacks were against island positions; the third was against shore positions on the lake, the communique said.

"Our troops captured another stronghold, killing the majority of the defenders," the communique continued. "The enemy dead numbered over 500. Seven tanks, four guns, large quantities of other arms, more than 30 automobiles of various types and other war materials fell into our hands."

The Finns said that Russian attacks also were repulsed at Summa, on the Karelian Isthmus in the extreme southeast, and at Markajarvi, in the north near the Arctic Circle.

They said that nine Russian planes were known to have been shot down and that four more probably downed in the air war. The attack in the Simma sector occurred yesterday, the communique said.

"The attack was stopped before it had time to develop, whereupon the enemy attempted to dig in before our stations but was driven back to his starting positions," it said.

The Finns said their air forces "carried out successful reconnoitering and bombing flights during which enemy troops, air bases, etc. were bombed."

The communique reported that fire "appeared to have broken out" in a monastery at Valamo after a Russian air raid.

A new Russian practice, night air raids on Finland's blacked-out cities, was described defiantly today by Finns as a doomed effort to break their morale.

The air attacks continued today and an official announcement said Swedish ambulances were struck but damage was negligible and there were no casualties among the ambulance workers.

The night forays, a phase of intensifying Soviet air warfare, have developed during an unrelenting Red army land offensive which, so far, has found the Mannerheim line impregnable.

In another futile attempt to break through Karelian Isthmus defenses at Summa, 20 miles south of Viipuri, Finns said yesterday, the Russians lost more than 1,000 men. "Heavy" Soviet losses also were reported at Muolajarvi, on the same front.

Two of Finland's main cities, meanwhile, were hard hit by Russian air raiders. Bombing-induced fires burned through the night in the seaport of Turku and in Viipuri, a city of about 73,000 population at the head of the Gulf of Finland. Explosives rained down from shortly after dawn until far in the night.

Students Form Hull-For-President Club

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 5.—(P)—Two University of Missouri students have formed a "Cordell Hull for President club" and have contacted campus leaders at fifteen southern and mid-western universities to spread the organization, they said today.

Students Houston Cox of Columbus, Miss., and Jack Kilpatrick of Oklahoma City are the originators. And Prof. H. C. Nixon, visiting professor of history from Tulane, is faculty sponsor.

"We wrote Mr. Hull for permission to boost him for the presidency," Cox said. "He didn't say yes. But he didn't say no. So we've gone ahead. Our motto is: 'A new Hull for the ship of state.'"

Indians Want Cash For Land Occupied By Seattle

SEATTLE, Feb. 5.—(P)—The Buwanish Indians laid claim today to the land on which the city of Seattle stands.

The city rightfully belongs to the Duwamish tribe as a reservation, Chief Peter James explained. But the Indians don't want it back. All they want is $3,076,800 cash, and the whites can keep the city with all of its skyscrapers.

James said the Indians based their claim on the treaty of 1850 which promised to provide the tribe with a reservation. The treaty was signed by Gov. Isaac

Third Term Issue Unanswered For The Democrats

J. E. Smith Is Bar President

J. E. Smith was elected president of the Sedalia Bar Association, at a meeting held in the circuit court room this morning. John Z. Montgomery was elected vice-president and Miss Hazel Palmer secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was held immediately after the court had set the cases on the docket for the February term of court.

Entente Of Balkan States Been Extended

Pledge Neutral Status As Present Be Continued

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 5.—(P)—Rumania, Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia have extended their entente for seven years, pledging continuance of their present neutral status "so as to preserve this part of Europe from the trials of war."

Ending a three-day conference last night, Balkan entente diplomats set out for their capitals, each determined to work out relations with larger powers and one another on an individual basis.

Rumania, caught in the Allied-German trade pinchers, was seen by neutral observers as failing in her aim to turn the entente into a military alliance.

Common Interests

A communique said the conference recognized:

"(1) The common interests of the four states in the maintenance of peace, order and security in Southeastern Europe.

"(2) Their firm decision to x x maintain strictly their positions in regard to the present conflict so as to preserve this part of Europe from the trials of war.

"(3) Their will to remain united within the entente x x to watch in common over the safeguarding of the rights of

S. Cullenbine, director of industrial relations and Elmer Donnell, executive vice-president of the association.

George H. Trader, of this city, is a director of the Associated Industries.

Chicago Chosen Convention City—Speech By Farley

Bulletin
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Democrats chose Chicago today for the party convention to nominate a 1940 presidential candidate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(P)—Houston, Tex., made a surprise bid of $200,000 today to obtain the 1940 Democratic convention.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(P)—With the third term question still unanswered, a site for the convention which will pick the 1940 Democratic presidential nominee went on the auction block today before bidders from Chicago, San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Members of the Democratic National committee showed far greater interest in whether President Roosevelt would run than in the convention details.

Indications were that selection of the convention date would be left to a subcommittee after the Republicans choose theirs at a meeting here February 16.

Opening of bids for the convention city was on the afternoon program, following a routine morning session and address by National Chairman James A. Farley.

Albert M. Greenfield, chairman of the all-Philadelphia Citizens committee, headed a delegation of 80 which brought a certified check for $125,000 to coax the Democrats. Philadelphia raised over $200,000 to win the 1936 convention.

Said Greenfield: "We will not boost the $125,000 figure unless we can present the committee with a certified check for the whole amount. We are not very good on promises."

Liberal California Bid

Mrs. Lucretia Grady, California committeewoman, reported that San Francisco would bid up to $235,000 for the convention. Philadelphia interests were ready to offer a certified check for $125,000, and it was considered likely that this offer would be increased.

Chicago representatives would only reiterate that they would make a "reasonable offer."

Farley appointed a resolution committee composed of David E. Fitzgerald of Connecticut, Lynn Brodick of Kansas and Mrs. William H. Good of New York.

Resolutions offered for later consideration included one from Ohio to give women "an equal voice" on the next convention's resolutions committee. Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, head of the national committee's women's division, spoke in approval of the idea.

Another resolution would apportion delegates to the convention on the same basis as in 1936 with the total kept at 1,000.

When Chairman Farley called on Vice-President Garner for a speech, the Texan merely got up and smiled.

"I didn't consult with him in advance and he didn't consult with me," Farley said amid laughter.

Representative Frank Buck (D-Cal) presented San Francisco's bid for the convention, saying that $50,000 had been raised by the city and that a bill to

The Unemployment Commission Is Wanted By Sedalia

(Cedar County Republican, Stockton, Mo.)

"The Unemployment Compensation is still housed in an non-fire-proof building in Jefferson City, notwithstanding the fact that Sedalia, Pettis County, Missouri, recently filed with the commission plans and specifications of a fire-proof building to be erected in Sedalia and turned over to the Commission free of rent. The Commission examined the specifications and plans and approved them, but have deferred taking any action on the location of their permanent headquarters, notwithstanding the fact that no other city has made so favorable a proposition.

"It is time something is done toward relieving the people of Missouri of the burden of taxation and here is an opportunity to save at least ten to fifteen thousand dollars a year and we here and now call upon the Unemployment Compensation Commission and the Governor to accept Sedalia's proposition and locate their headquarters there."

Two Nations Celebrate

Seven years ago on Jan. 30, two men celebrated anniversaries. In the United States, President Roosevelt celebrated his first birthday in the White House. In Germany, Adolf Hitler observed the end of his first year in the chancellery.

A few days ago, both men again held celebrations. From the White House came a kindly, firm plea for a renewed attack on infantile paralysis, a disease that once brought death to many. From Berlin came another kind of message for another kind of battle—a bitter, hateful, sordid promise of a bigger and better war, with more deaths, more cruelty. "We in Germany," said Hitler, "have seen enough of democratic ideals."

And we in America have seen altogether too much of Nazi methods. We still like our kind of war better—the war AGAINST death and disease.

Unless this war ends in a better settlement than the last, we shall have only a shorter breathing spell before the next. —Count Paul Teleki, Hungarian premier.

So They Say

In our foreign relations, our first duty is to look after the interests of the United States. If we don't, no other nation will. —Col. Theodore Roosevelt, now aligned with candidacy of Thomas E. Dewey.

If we could get Hitler and Stalin, Daladier and Chamberlain to come on this stage and shake hands, the war would soon be over and all would be lovely. —David Sarnoff, chairman, radio division of Metropolitan Opera Fund campaign, addressing Metropolitan opera-goers.

It is extremely important that those of us who believe in individual liberty and freedom talk much of this freedom at the present time. —Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president, Columbia University.

With our knotty problems, there is not one which cannot be satisfactorily settled if the groups involved will sit around a table and talk it over. —Gov. Clifford E. Townsend of Indiana.

The souls and lives of men are much more serious than farmers' crops. —Senator Elbert D. Thomas (Dem., Utah).

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

A family of three who are driving overland from Dyea, Sheep Camp, Alaska, to their home in St. Paul, Minn., with five fine northern dogs hitched to their wagon, arrived in Sedalia today and attracted considerable attention. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Blandy and son, who say they have had enough of the Klondike, will be in Sedalia several days.

H. E. Rice, secretary-treasurer of the State Music Teachers Association, was in Sedalia today consulting with Mrs. W. D. Steele about the fifth annual convention of the association to be held in Columbia in June. Mrs. Steele is a member of the program committee.

A paper on "The Predictive Element of Prophecy" was the important feature at the meeting of the Ministers' Alliance at the Fifth street M. E. church, south, this morning.

A postal card received here today from W. W. Herold of Sedalia, dated at San Antonio, February 3rd, stated that the groundhog came out there on the 2nd inst. and saw his shadow, but as the animal had no particular business out, went back into his hole.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—You can rest easy about any new taxes this year. Definitely there won't be any. And that goes too for any boost in the $45,000,000,000 national debt limit so wistfully "suggested" by Secretary Morgenthau.

Democratic and Republican leaders have had a private meeting of minds on both propositions and agreed among themselves to do nothing about either. With a hot national election in the offing, the boys have no stomach for soaking the taxpayer either directly or indirectly and they intend to play it safe by doing nothing.

Their plan is to prune appropriations sufficiently to keep just within the $45,000,000,000 debt limit and then call it a day. What happens next year they are going to leave for the new Congress and Administration to worry about. They are out to save their own scalps in 1940.

Senator Mickey
During his recent visit to the nation's capital in honor of the President's birthday, youthful screen star Mickey Rooney took a side trip to Baltimore, traveling under police escort. With him went Miss Bertha Joseph, vivacious secretary of Senator George Radcliffe of Maryland.

In the course of their conversation Miss Joseph remarked: "Mickey, why don't you run for the Senate?" Mickey said nothing, appeared to be thinking the matter over.

Finally he said: "Uh-huh, maybe you got something there. I have been thinking about that carefully and maybe I will. But first I had better get a secretary. hadn't I? How about you?"

And Miss Joseph, comparing the 19-year-old boy to her 62-year-old mentor, said she was interested.

"Mr. Brower Goes To Washington"
Few people outside New York City realize that Earl Brower is not in jail, but is actually running for Congress. Voters of New York's sixteenth district will choose tomorrow (February 6) among three candidates to send to Washington—Michael Edelstein, Louis Lefkowitz, and Earl Browder.

The contest is over the seat made vacant by the death of Congressman Sirovich.

Browder is under sentence of four years and $2,000 for passport forgery, but he is out on bail pending appeal. Meantime, he is making it clear that he would much prefer a seat in the House to a cell in prison.

Chances are that Democrat Edelstein will win over both Republican Lefkowitz and Communist Browder, but if Browder should be elected, he would have still another hurdle to jump—the consent of the House of Representatives itself to let him sit. It is doubtful if members would seat a Communist if they had the valid excuse that he was under criminal sentence.

But New York Communists are pushing him nevertheless, using as their rallying cry, "Mr. Browder goes to Washington."

No Luck
General Julius F. Howell, 94-year-old commander of the United Confederate Veterans, tried his hand at drawing the President out on the third-term issue, but with no better luck than the rest.

Accompanied by Representative John W. Flannagan of Virginia, the Dixie hero visited the President at the White House. After telling Roosevelt he had voted for him twice, Howell added, "And nothing would make me happier than to make it three in a row this year."

The President laughed jovially and commended the General on his party loyalty. But he said nothing about running again. Howell tried another tack.

"You've got to run again, Mr. President," he insisted. "No other Democrat but you can win. The people won't take No for an answer."

But Roosevelt wasn't talking. He beamed but ducked the question by deftly changing the subject.

"You know, General," he said, "And who, then, might you be referring to?" inquired Mike.

He stood in the middle of the room, red-faced, bluff and jovial. "When you wired your mother and myself that you had found the girl you were going to marry?"

"Marie La Porte," Dan replied promptly. "She models clothes at Varnet's. Her father owns a couple of barges."

"What the devil do you mean?" Mike stared at him with his round, blue eyes. And then the storm broke.

The caustic comments about the fight on the barge pier and Dan's failure to knock Tommy Ryan out were as so much tea-table chit-chat, compared to the Jovian rage that Mike indulged in now. He grew very white and when he talked he sounded as if somebody had seized him by the windpipe. Thick brogue clogged his excited speech.

"Not a cent of my money shall ye have if ye marry that girl!" he cried. Dan lit a cigaret and leaned gingerly against the fireplace. He was still sore from the blows Tommy had landed. "Very well, father. You've often said it was about time I did something to earn my living."

Mike tried another line. "It's not alone the money you'll be missin'." His voice had the emotion that only the Irish can muster. "But ye'll be breakin' your mother's heart."

Dan spoke quietly. "After all, I'm marrying the girl, not mother."

Mike paced angrily back and forth. "A bargeman's daughter! Have ye gone mad, boy?"

Dan smiled. "I believe her father owns the honorary title of Captain. At least I heard him re-

DALE CARNEGIE

Author of "How To Win Friends And Influence People"

Eight years ago Barry J. Holloway packed his suitcase in Versailles, Mo., and boarded a train for New York to get a job as press agent. He was an experienced newspaper man, and wanted a job in the publicity department of the National Broadcasting Company.

When he arrived in New York, he found that the company was not taking on any more men; in fact it had just let one man go. Barry had come all the way to New York to get his name on that payroll, and there he sat in his hotel room, no job, no prospect, no return fare.

He found that the man who could say Yes or No was Frank E. Mason.

He did a little thinking. He knew that he must do something different to land that job. Every day good newspaper men and writers were trudging in and flapping down their cards on Frank E. Mason's reception desk. And when they saw Mr. Mason, they told how capable they were.

Barry decided not to try to sell himself, but to let someone else do it. He sat down and wrote to twelve friends, air mail, asking them to send telegrams to Mr. Mason saying how experienced Barry was, and that he should be given a hearing. He wrote sample letters, each one making a different point. He knew that Mr. Mason would know the names of some of these people.

Then he told his boosters the exact time of day to send the telegrams. Some were to be sent in the morning, others in the afternoon.

This barrage of telegrams lasted for seven days, each message telling what a good publicity man Barry J. Holloway was. But not a word from Mr. Holloway himself. He waited patiently, for, if his plan worked, Mr. Mason would have his curiosity tremendously aroused by this build-up of telegrams.

On the fifth day, Barry arrived at the office just as Mr. Mason finished reading his mail and before he had plunged into the day's work. The secretary came out and Barry said: "I'm Barry J. Holloway, I'd like to see Mr. Mason."

The secretary looked at him with interest. "Mr. Mason knows of you. Won't you come in?"

He went in, and in thirty minutes he came out with the job. His friends had done his selling for him. Mr. Holloway made good at his job, and later was called to Columbia, Mo., as press representative for Stephens college, where he is now.

What did Barry Holloway do that got him the job? He worked out a novel way of calling himself to the attention of the man who could say Yes or No. I do not necessarily recommend this as a way for you to apply for a job, but you might be able to use some idea similar to it. Try to think of some striking and effective way to present yourself and it may do more for you than all the puffing you can do for yourself.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in All Churches of Christ, Scientists, on Sunday February 11, 1940.

Golden Text: John 4:24. "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you" (Rom. 8:5,6 to first.).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals must gravitate toward, their affections, and also grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off. As mortals begin to understand Spirit, they give up the belief that there is any true existence apart from God" (pp-285, 283).

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

BY HELEN WORDEN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Modeling a gown for Lynda's aunt, Marie broke into tears when Dan's engagement is mentioned. She pleads for him to talk to him. At noon she meets Tommy. He urges her to take the afternoon off, celebrate with Dan. She agrees, denying that Dan means anything to her.

CHAPTER XI
DAN had put in the most miserable night of his life after he and his father came home from the West Side court. In vain he had tried to tell Mike that Lynda Martin meant nothing to him.

"You can't go back on a poor girl like that, Dan," Mike had said firmly, as they walked in the front door. Ling's enthusiastic greeting had prevented Dan from answering at the time, but as soon as they reached the upstairs living room he had told his father quite emphatically that he was not going to marry Lynda Martin, not if she were the last girl in the world.

"And who, then, might you be referring to?" inquired Mike. He stood in the middle of the room, red-faced, bluff and jovial. "When you wired your mother and myself that you had found the girl you were going to marry?"

"Marie La Porte," Dan replied promptly. "She models clothes at Varnet's. Her father owns a couple of barges."

"What the devil do you mean?" Mike stared at him with his round, blue eyes. And then the storm broke.

The caustic comments about the fight on the barge pier and Dan's failure to knock Tommy Ryan out were as so much tea-table chit-chat, compared to the Jovian rage that Mike indulged in now. He grew very white and when he talked he sounded as if somebody had seized him by the windpipe. Thick brogue clogged his excited speech.

"Not a cent of my money shall ye have if ye marry that girl!" he cried. Dan lit a cigaret and leaned gingerly against the fireplace. He was still sore from the blows Tommy had landed. "Very well, father. You've often said it was about time I did something to earn my living."

Mike tried another line. "It's not alone the money you'll be missin'." His voice had the emotion that only the Irish can muster. "But ye'll be breakin' your mother's heart."

Dan spoke quietly. "After all, I'm marrying the girl, not mother."

Mike paced angrily back and forth. "A bargeman's daughter! Have ye gone mad, boy?"

Dan smiled. "I believe her father owns the honorary title of Captain. At least I heard him referred to once or twice this evening by that prefix."

Mike snorted. "A common canal boatman for your father-in-law! As if any child of his could be good enough for a son of mine."

Dan laughed. "That's very funny, Dad. As a matter of fact, Bat La Porte doesn't think I'm good enough for his daughter. He's as much as said so tonight."

"Where does this illustrious family live?"

"On the barge Molly, down at Pier 6."

Mike threw himself heavily into a chair. "Have ye no pride left?"

After that he refused to talk with Dan any more. His big body sagged forward, suddenly old. In vain Dan and Ling tried to coax him to eat a sandwich or have a drink. He simply shook his head and continued to sit by the fire. He was still sitting there when Dan went to bed.

ONCE in bed, Dan began to realize how sore and bruised he really was from the fight. Every bone in his body ached separately. His head throbbed and his eye pained him. Harder to bear than the physical pain, however, and even his father's anger, was his uncertainty about Marie. He loved her so much that he didn't see how she could possibly not love him, and yet, that might very easily be.

A jealous fear clutched his heart as he thought that tonight, when she ran so frantically out on the pier, her concern was not for him, but Tommy Ryan. Thinking of this, he wondered how he could live till morning to talk to Marie and find out for himself about her feelings for him.

Early as it was when Dan arose, Mike had already dressed and breakfasted. As they met in the hall, Mike put an affectionate arm about his son's shoulder. His tone was kind.

"We'll forget last night, laddie. If ye want to marry the girl, I'll not oppose ye, though I still claim the right to stick to me own opinion." His rough voice trembled a little. "But ye know, ye're me only boy."

Dan didn't speak for a moment. He couldn't. He just pressed his father's hand. Finally he said, "Where are you going so early, Dad?"

Mike's voice became gruff again. "I've a little matter of me own I want to settle. I'm going to clean up business as I go. I like to be certain of me ground. I'll be telling ye about it in detail later."

With that he was gone. Half an hour later he was asking a straggler leaning against a pile head on Pier 6 where the barge Molly might be.

"Yonder," replied the man, pointing. "You can spot it easy enough. It's the only barge down here that's got a fresh coat of paint. See its white sides and green shutters?" He leveled an index finger. "And there's Bat La Porte himself, on deck."

MIKE approached the Molly amiably enough, but his tone nettled Bat when he introduced himself as Michael Donovan. Bat thought it condescending.

"And why do you want to be seeing La Porte?" he demanded.

Mike lost his temper. "I want to see the father of the girl my son Dan says he's going to marry," he roared.

Bat, who had been up since dawn trying to figure how he could reclaim the cargo which Tommy Ryan had taken last night, looked at Mike in bewilderment. His own temper, never any too good, flared as he realized the reason for Donovan's visit.

"I'm Marie La Porte's father, if that's what you want to know," he shouted, "but your call's wasted, my fellow, if you think you can persuade me to let my daughter marry your son." He snapped his fingers in Mike's face. "I have not the intention of letting my girl marry a wastrel."

Surprised canalboat occupants stuck inquiring heads out of hatchways as Mike bellowed back at Bat. For the first time in their memory, Bat had met his match.

"Your daughter isn't good enough for my boy," screamed Mike, waving his cane at Bat. He clutched his hat with his free hand as a sudden gust of wind whipped it.

"Is that so?" shouted Bat, rolling up his sleeves.

MRS. LA PORTE, hearing the racket, had hurried up on deck. Desperately she caught Bat by the collar. "Will you never stop fighting?" she cried, pulling him back toward the hatchway.

On the pier Mike danced up and down with rage. "Your girl has no social standing," he yelled. "She lives on a barge."

With superhuman effort, Mrs. La Porte had dragged Bat to the hatchway. "My girl is good enough for anybody," Bat shouted. His conversation was abruptly cut off. Mrs. La Porte had yanked him. The hatchway was banged shut.

Mike gave a derisive laugh and stamped off the pier. Five minutes later he was calling Dan.

"I take back all I said this mornin'," he roared into the phone. "Ye'll not marry that blithering bargeman's girl if I kin live to prevent it."

"There's nothing doing in this town on Sundays—let's go in the dining room and have another breakfast."

It Happened In America

By L. O. HONIG

It is claimed the first newspaper published in America, was the Boston News Letter No. 1, published April 24, 1708. It was printed on a half sheet of pot paper. The second paper is said to have been the Boston Gazette, published by Wm. Brooker by James Franklin, on a half sheet of foolscap, the first issue being dated December 21, 1718. The third, the New England Courant, dated August 17, 1721, also published by James Franklin, opposed most of the public office holders, and prevailing religious and political opinions. It was denounced by Dr. Increase Mather, and Franklin was imprisoned and forbidden further publication, and the paper was then issued in name of his brother, Benjamin Franklin, later the great American statesman, but then only an apprentice in James Franklin's newspaper office.

Uppuqui-ips-ing, "the reed covered lodge by the little water place," was the name of an Indian village on the present site of Poughkeepsie, New York, when Baltus Barents Van Fleck and Hendrick Jans Ostrom, Dutch emigrants first came to the place in 1687. From 1777 to 1783, Poughkeepsie served as Capital of New York. July 26, 1788, the New York State Convention convened here and ratified the Federal Constitution. Vassar College, famous institution of learning for women was established at Poughkeepsie in 1865. Poughkeepsie is said to be derived from Apokeepsing, an Indian word signifying "safe harbor."

John (Julien) Dubuque, a French-Canadian, born in Quebec, January 10, 1762, came to what is now Iowa in 1783. Obtaining a grant of land from Fox Indians, he built a trading post and mined lead. He died in 1810, and the site was abandoned temporarily.

The oldest bank building in America was built in 1794 in Philadelphia, as the home of the first United States Bank, which was government operated. When it was first organized in 1791, the bank soon became almost indispensable in the management of governmental finances. By 1823 this usefulness had become greatly impaired by dishonesty and gross mismanagement, resulting in the veto by President Andrew Jackson in 1832 of an act to extend its charter. It finally passed out of existence in 1839, but the historic building at 116 South Third street still stands, a memory of its part in the infant American government's struggle for financial stability.

Present Road Taxes Short of Meeting Need

gram that might eventually be submitted.

Officials have indicated those suggestions would be based largely upon the survey.

In predicting the $90,000,000 tax deficiency in the next 10 years, the survey estimated $141,461,600 would be needed in that time just to bring the present road system to a "safe" standard.

Another $50,000,000 should be spent in taking over 250 miles of through-city highway connections and for adding 5,000 miles to the present 7,016-mile supplementary road system, which has been the chief target of highway critics.

That would require total expenditures of $191,461,600 by 1951. Present taxes, however, would yield only $99,893,105 during that period, or a little more than half the required amount, after meeting fixed operation costs and bond obligations.

Extensions Completed

To cope with "anticipated increases in traffic within the next 20 years" or nearly 50 per cent, the report said the state's mileage of "high type" concrete or asphalt—roads should be extended from 3,984 to 4,600 miles and that of "intermediate type" other hard surface—roads from 2,335 to 3,647 miles.

Suggested improvements included: widening of 69.5 miles of three-lane highways to four lanes; constructing of two more lanes on 562.5 miles of two-lane highway; widening 1,366.9 miles of pavement from 18 to 22 feet, and providing a dustless surface on 1,028 miles of secondary roads.

In addition, the report said, 4-125.6 miles of the trunk system would have to be resurfaced at least once, with at least 736.5 miles of the re-surfacing to be of "high type" and 1,400.5 miles of "intermediate type."

On the supplementary system, 40.3 miles should be surfaced with high type surfaces and 3-151 miles with intermediate type, it concluded.

The estimated $27,395,000 cost for 5,000 new miles of supplementary road would provide 125 miles of high type, 210 miles of high type intermediate, 750 miles of intermediate and 3,915 miles of granular surface—loose gravel and stone.

Not only should bus and truck fees be boosted, the report said, but present rated-capacity basis for determining the charges should be abandoned in favor of a gross weight basis because actual loads "generally exceed the rated capacities."

The common carriers—the only ones now paying Public Service Commission fees—"license their units in lower weight classifications to avoid payment of the higher fees," it was noted, while contract carriers, doing similar business but with no PSC fees, "secure permits in the heavier weight classification."

"Since the business conducted by these carriers is almost identical, it would seem that existing statutes discriminate in favor of contract carriers and to a lesser extent also in favor of some private carriers, who pay no Public Service Commission fees."

In support of its charge that trucks are failing to pay their way, the report cited figures showing that in 1938 trucks and buses, representing 19.3 per cent of all vehicles, accounted for 45.3 per cent of the total ton-miles of travel—yet collections from commercial carriers were only 24.4 per cent of the total revenue.

Has Lowest 'Gas' Tax

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The typical Missouri car driver pays $22 a year in highway taxes—the third lowest rate in the nation, the highway planning survey reported revealed today.

Missouri is the only state with a gasoline tax as low as two cents a gallon. Other state levies range from three to seven cents and average 4.4 cents.

Missouri's registration fees are "about average," the report noted, but when added to the gas tax the total is less than that of any other state except California and Massachusetts, which averages $19.50 a car.

The figures were based on a "typical passenger car having a net weight of 3,000 pounds and using 550 gallons of gasoline per year."

U. S. Aircraft Plants Active

Deliver Over 1,100 Planes To French And The British

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Busy American aircraft plants have delivered more than 1,100 warplanes to the British and French fighting forces, an authoritative compilation showed today.

The two governments together have placed orders for approximately 4,000 planes since they first turned to the United States for help 18 months ago.

Current negotiations for upwards of 8,000 additional bombers, pursuit craft and other types, which Secretary Morgenthau is watching to protect this government's interests, testify further to allied reliance on American factories.

These and existing unfilled orders, coupled with the pressure for speed from purchasing missions, promise to step up materially the recent delivery rate of more than 100 craft a month.

More than 300 planes have been loaded on merchant ships or tugged across the Canadian border since the European war started. Most of the other planes were delivered last Spring and summer.

France first turned to the United States to supplement her own lagging warplane output in mid-1938, but British and French orders did not become large until after the Munich crisis dramatized the threat of the Nazis' air force.

In addition to the British and French contracts, about 1,000 American planes have been ordered by other governments.

The compilation covered two years ending January 31, but many details were confidential. Officials would permit disclosure of only round-figure totals.

Fighting Ships For France

The French ordered mainly fighting ships, particularly the fast Curtiss Hawk pursuit planes which demonstrated their military worth in aerial combat at the start of the war.

Apparently convinced of the superiority of their own fighters over the Nazi Messerschmitts, the British have confined their orders in this country largely to bombers and training craft. Both nations have bought attack bombers of designs only slightly less advanced than the latest American army craft.

Actual deliveries thus far roughly equal a month's full production of Britain's aircraft industry. Expert information here is that British and French production is far below the 2,000 to 2,200 planes a month credited to the Nazi factories.

Marshal Goering has some 9,000 first line planes at his command, with possibly as many older types in reserve, unless well-informed military sources have been deceived. The same quarters credit the allies with considerably smaller forces.

Military officials here keep a close tab on all aircraft exports to protect American military secrets. As long as there is no interference with heavy current orders for the army and navy, they declare, the expanding export trade increases the capacity of American industry to meet any emergency involving this country.

Truman Urges Clark Support

Roosevelt issue while Clark has been in the anti-administration ranks in such important congressional battles as the supreme court fight and the contest over repeal of the arms embargo.

In his statement today opposing a third term for President Roosevelt but agreeing to support the President in the event of his renomination, Truman was seen to be veering from his strict administration support and into closer relationship with his senatorial colleague.

Clark several times has indicated he would take no outward part in what promises to be a bitter senatorial battle in Missouri.

The direction of his sentiment is complicated by what most observers regard as the likely entry into the senatorial race of Maurice M. Milligan of Kansas City, United States district attorney who sent Boss Tom Pendergast to prison.

Truman openly opposed Milligan's renomination as district attorney after his vote fraud attacks on the Pendergast machine more than a year ago. At that time, Senator Clark took the floor in Milligan's behalf. Some believe that support of the district attorney might carry over into the senatorial fight.

Milligan has remained silent on his possible entry, but his recent appearance at several semi-political functions have convinced many close followers of Missouri politics he will make the battle a three-way race.

In that event, the prosecutor and Senator Truman may be battling for Clark support while Stark and Milligan are contesting for votes of the Dallas, Texas, sewerage plant, which is a $1,573,239.90 plant.

Third Term Issue Unanswered For The Democrats

grant $150,000 had been approved by the state assembly and was pending in the senate.

Buck's talk was followed by a plea from Mrs. Lucretia Grady, California committeewoman, that the convention come to San Francisco.

Mrs. Grady asserted that a number of state delegations to today's committee meeting were backing San Francisco. She listed Oregon, Arizona, Wyoming, Nevada, Indiana, Michigan, Utah, Massachusetts, Colorado, Missouri, Mississippi and Alaska.

Not Match 'Frisco Figure Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago declined to say how much his city would bid, but declared that it certainly would not attempt to match the $235,000 San Francisco figure.

"We are stressing Chicago's natural geographical advantage," Kelly asserted. "We don't want to put our city or the Democratic party on the auction block."

Third term sentiment was noted among many of the national committeemen and committeewomen from the 48 states and the territories.

Mr. Roosevelt was at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y. He will return tomorrow to greet the committee in a group after all the business is over.

Frank McHale, national committeeman from Indiana and campaign manager for Paul V. McNutt, sounded out Farley on whether the chief executive would run, and said he got nowhere.

Mayor Kelly and Patrick A. Nash, Illinois national committeeman, who sponsored the petitions to enter the president's name in the Illinois primary April 9, reiterated that Mr. Roosevelt was their candidate.

"He is like a stake horse alongside a bunch of platters," Kelly said. Mr. Roosevelt had no comment.

Adding to the third term sentiment already evidenced by committee members from Kansas and Washington state, Charles E. Broughton, member from Wisconsin, told reporters "we're for a third term in Wisconsin," while Scott Ferris, Oklahoma committeeman, declared:

"Oklahoma is 90 percent in favor of a third term."

Predicts Active Campaign WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Chairman James A. Farley told the Democratic National Committee today that the party's biggest job was to win over some 10,000,000 independent voters "who will cast their ballots for the best candidates and the best program that is offered."

Farley, predicting "a very active pre-convention campaign," noted that there were many who would like to have the Democratic presidential nomination. He mentioned by name, however, only Vice-President Garner.

Garner's name came up in the chairman's expression of thanks for the assistance given him by members of the committee, "including sturdy, stalwart John Garner."

Kind Words From Garner Garner himself had some kind words for Farley when he introduced him, as "one of the most efficient, kindest and most agreeable fellows to work with I know."

The vice president also described Farley as "one of the most distinguished chairmen of any national committee of any party for the last half century."

As Farley spoke, there were growing indications that Philadelphia might obtain the 1940 convention. The Democrats met there in 1936, and a Philadelphia delegation was prepared to offer a certified check for $125,000 to obtain this year's meeting. It also was learned that the delegation held another certified check of an undisclosed amount which was to be offered in event some other city topped the $125,000 bid.

Although San Francisco representatives indicated they would have as much as $235,000 available, they did not claim to have the sum in ready cash.

Cheer Finance Report Earlier in the all-day session the committee cheered the news that a $250,000 party deficit had been more than wiped out by over $400,000 in receipts from the recent Jackson Day dinners.

Oliver A. Quayle, Jr., acting treasurer, said that additional collections probably would add the total yield from the extra-fare dinners to more than $500,000.

His report prompted action of a resolution to make him treasurer instead of acting treasurer of the committee.

Farley lent weight to talk that the committee would take no action on a convention date at today's meeting, but would turn the job over to a subcommittee. This subcommittee could act after the Republican national committee had selected a date in a meeting here February 16.

"Why not wait and see what the Republicans have to offer?" Farley remarked.

He indicated that if the Republicans meet in late June or early July, the Democratic convention might be held immediately afterward.

"I confess that I have no great

Death In Air Honeymoon

apprehension as to the result of the forthcoming election," said the man who steered Franklin D. Roosevelt to easy victories in 1932 and 1936.

"Until or unless the Republicans are able to formulate a better program to take the place of our program, I do not think there is any danger of the voters of the United States consenting to any interruption of the course that has brought us so far on the road to recovery."

"It has long been a political maxim that in a political campaign you cannot beat anybody with nobody. It is equally true that you cannot beat any program with no program."

The third term question found no mention in Farley's address, but it was predominant in informal discussions, and overshadowed the question of whether Chicago, San Francisco or Philadelphia would be the high bidder for the convention.

"Opposition Resourceful" "The opposition is bitter and resourceful," Farley continued. "The eminent gentlemen who possess the greatest wealth in this country are hungry to return to the old conditions by which they dominated the government for their own advantage and profit. They will have dollars where we have dimes."

"Against a united democracy, our enemies are helpless. Between the two great parties are roughly ten million voters who will cast their ballots for the best candidates and the best program that is offered."

"It must be our job to so conduct our campaign that these independent voters will adhere to the allegiance they gave in 1932 and in 1936. Nothing would so tend to make them waver as the spectacle of a shattered Democratic front."

"The guiding principle must always be that the Democratic National committee is for the candidates selected by the national convention, unqualifiedly, enthusiastically, militantly."

Farley tossed this taunt at the Republicans: "They dare not permit the comparison of things as they are, compared with things as they were, when a disgusted country turned them out of office for simple incompetence—for a complete bankruptcy not only of policy but even of ideas."

Stark Pleads Cut Be Restored

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark today appealed to congress for restoration of its recent cut in agricultural appropriations as an aid in solving Missouri's sharecroppers and relief problems.

"Our people in Missouri are distressed at the reduction in appropriations for agriculture," Stark said in a telegram to Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the agriculture deficiencies subcommittee of the house.

"I urge that you do everything possible to restore amounts recommended by President Roosevelt, also money for parity payments to farmers."

"Missouri will suffer badly unless the $25,000,000 for tenant farmer and sharecropper loans is restored. This start of a movement to provide small inexpensive homesteads for tenants and sharecroppers will aid in solving both sharecropper and labor unemployment problems and will greatly aid the general relief situation because such substantial homesteads would take millions of people off relief."

The house last week pared Roosevelt's $788,929,519 recommended appropriation for agriculture by 20 per cent.

Bootlegging On Tobacco

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The alleged widespread bootlegging of tobacco in the Missouri Ozarks and parts of three other states is being investigated by the Internal Revenue Department.

The government agents, who started the inquiry last week, were reported to be seeking to uncover a suspected conspiracy in which the federal government may have lost thousands of dollars a year through evasion of the tobacco tax.

Untaxed leaf tobacco of inferior grade, it was reported, is being bootlegged throughout the Ozarks and sections of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas in unfair competition with tax-paid products.

The federal tax on processed tobacco is 18 cents a pound. The government permits growers to sell unprocessed leaf tobacco to consumers directly or through agents without paying the tax.

However, when the tobacco, usually of low grade, is rolled and wrapped into loose packages, the Internal Revenue Bureau has ruled it becomes processed and is subject to the tax.

Dealers in Cape Girardeau, Springfield, Kansas City and St. Louis already have been questioned by the agents who are attempting to determine the "high-ups" in the illegal traffic.

Crash En Route To Gay Mardi Gras Takes Five Lives

HAMMOND, La., Feb. 5.—(AP)—

An airplane honeymoon trip ended in death last night for a newly married couple and three other persons flying from Denver to New Orleans for the gay Mardi Gras.

The five-passenger cabin bi-plane crashed in wooded, swampy country in a thick fog six miles east of here after the pilot had tried desperately to "talk" his way into the New Orleans airport, 50 miles away airline.

Don T. Craig, 30, of Denver, was the pilot. The passengers, prominent residents of Colorado, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zimmerhackel, bride and groom of a day; Mrs. Elizabeth McSweeney Powell, owner of the plane and cousin of Zimmerhackel; and Michael Creede Hinderlider, Jr., 28, son of the Colorado state engineer.

The plane left Denver yesterday morning. The party had made brief stops at Woodward, Okla., and Fort Worth, Tex., before Craig, shrouded by fog, attempted to set the plane down.

J. B. Waldrup, a Slidell, La., salesman, said he saw the biplane level off and "hit treetops which stripped its wings. The motor fell out and the passengers were strewn over the ground."

He and W. F. Wilson, manager of the state experiment station near here, said the plane burst into flames. When they reached it, all parts were burning and the gasoline had set the trees and underbrush afire.

The Airways Communications operator at New Orleans airport said: "We were talking with him (Craig) for more than an hour. He evidently didn't know where he was. He told us the weather was getting worse, and that he was getting tired and was going to set it down."

More Tolerant On Youth Group

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Republican national chairman split sharply today on whether the American Youth Congress is tinged too much with red.

Chairman John Hamilton of the Republicans said he would not ask any of his partisans to attend the youth congress meetings until "it purges itself of its communistic elements."

Mrs. Roosevelt told her press conference later that as far as she had been able to determine, the congress was "not communistic dominated."

Mrs. Roosevelt commented that the congress had as one of its member groups the young communist league and that naturally communist papers claimed that the league had a dominating influence.

"I feel that a youth organization must stand for the same kind of freedom of expression, tolerance and representation as we stand for as a nation."

The congress will meet here Feb. 11.

Versailles Victor For First Place In Stover Tourney

Defeats Stover By A Score of 24 to 22

Stover's first invitational basketball tournament ended Saturday evening with the satisfaction of its being enjoyed from the first to the last game. Large crowds packed the bleachers and all available chairs were used. Also the large stage was filled to capacity. Afternoon and night sessions attracted spectators from far and near.

Versailles Gets First

Trophies were awarded to the following teams:

Versailles 1st place, Stover 2nd place, LaMonte 3rd place and Cole Camp, consolation.

Stover hopes to have the pleasure of seeing these teams and all those entered for an annual event that will grow bigger and better each year.

"Sportsmanship" trophies were awarded to Freeman Kidwell, Keith Coester, J. C. Yeater, Marcus Harms.

Hard Fought Game

Stover's most outstanding game for Saturday evening was that played by the Stover Bulldogs and the Versailles Tigers. At the end of the first quarter the score board showed 11 to 11. Both teams seemed to be over confident that they could win the game, but at the half the score was close again—16 to 13 in favor of Versailles.

The Bulldogs took a firmer grip and scored to 21 to 19 at the last quarter and then tied the score 22 to 22 until the last five seconds when the Versailles Tigers sprang out of their cages and made another score that put the game to a close of 24 to 22 in favor of Versailles. Yarnell and Akins were high point men for Versailles. Koehler and Kipp high for Stover.

Trophies awarded Saturday evening included:

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—

Herold D. (Muddy) Ruel, Chicago White Sox coach, started talking about the immortal Walter Johnson today and wound up calling modern pitchers lazy.

"Why, I know pitchers who've got the idea they're not supposed to go more than half a game," said Ruel, a great catcher in his day.

"A lot of this is the fault of managers. They tell their pitchers to go hard as they can for six innings. They've got most of these hurlers too lazy to get in shape to pitch a full game. They talk of weakening, ir of sore arms. Why, they're lazy, that's all."

It's a matter of getting into condition, insisted Ruel, who handled Johnson in the Big Train's heyday with the Washington Senators.

"Walter never faded in the seventh," Ruel said. "Grove Cleveland Alexander never needed help, nor Herb Pennock, nor dozens of others."

"Now, that Johnson—he would pitch one day, a full game. Next day you'd see him out there for a full half hour throwing to a batter—really throwing, too."

"Walter Johnson was so good that for years every batter in the American League knew what

The Syracuse Panthers won a good game from the LaMonte Vikings by 33 to 27. High scorers of LaMonte were Bob Keller, 12 and Charles Comfort 11 points. For Syracuse Vergil Berkenbile scored 8 points and Edward Moore 8 points.

Marlene Dietrich, James Stewart In Big Western

The return of Marlene Dietrich to the screen in the unprecedented role of a frontier dance-hall entertainer is enhanced by three new hit tunes which she sings in Universal's "Destry Rides Again," coming tomorrow for a three-day showing at the Liberty Theatre.

The songs include "Little Joe," "You've Got That Look" and "The Boys in the Back Room," and were written for her by Frank Loesser and Frederick Hollander. The same team composed such hits as "Two Sleepy People," "Moonlight and Shadows," "Whisper in the Dark" and many others.

A fourth song, a ballad number called "I've Been In Love Before," also is in "Destry Rides Again," giving Miss Dietrich more numbers than she has ever had before in a film role.

Besides the songs, Miss Dietrich does the Virginia reel with James Stewart, her co-star in the picture, and a group of frontiersmen in the dance-hall. Appearing with the two stars is a strong supporting cast that includes Mischa Auer, Charles Winninger, Brian Donlevy, Irene Hervey, Una Merkel and many others.

L. M. Perriguet of 130 East Twenty-fourth street, is dead after being ill but a few days. The dog was two years old and was a favorite of the family and friends. Interment was in the dog and cat cemetery.

The Sophomore class of Lincoln high school will present a three-act mystery comedy, "The Mystery of the Mashed Girl," at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, February 7, in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Economy Test For Congress Is Being Faced

Indication For Approval On Trade Treaty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A preliminary canvass by administration leaders was reported today to indicate Senate approval of extending the reciprocal trade program, one senator declaring there was every reason to believe that not more than a dozen Democrats would join the 23 Republicans in opposing the legislation.

Administration strategists said there apparently would be strong sentiment in the Senate ratification of each trade pact, but they expressed confidence that they had the votes to defeat an amendment of that nature.

The canvass of senators' views has been proceeding quietly, under the direction of Senators Byrnes (D-S.C.) and Harrison (D-Miss.) while the House Ways and Means committee has been busy with hearings on the program.

House action is expected soon after these hearings end, and administration followers have been confident of victory in that chamber. The State Department's authority to negotiate the trade pacts will expire June 12 unless renewed.

Mark Time Today

Congress marked time today to permit many of its members to attend, either as spectators or as participants, the meeting of the Democratic National committee to make arrangements for the party convention.

The Senate, however, will have a test tomorrow of the strength of its economy advocates. It will debate the $1,138,675,000 appropriations bill for independent federal agencies. An increase of 338,500,000 over the House total was voted by the Senate Appropriations committee, but even with the Senate increase the bill was $56,029,000 under budget estimates. Nevertheless, it totaled about $22,000,000 more than was given the independent agencies by Congress in the current year.

There were growing indications, too, that the House action in trimming down to $722,001,084 next year's appropriations for the Agriculture Department would face a stiff fight in the Senate.

This figure was $66,928,435 under the president's budget estimate and $579,339,231 under the total made available this year.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who has advocated at least $200,000,000 for farm parity payments, said that a determined effort to include that amount would be made within the Appropriations committee. The House made no provision for parity funds.

Russell said that the committee would not take up the farm bill for a week.

Greater Hazard for Elderly

OLDSTERS BEWARE!

That street crossings are especially hazardous for elderly pedestrians is one of the clearest facts in the pedestrian situation revealed in a three-year study by the American Automobile Association. Two out of three pedestrians killed are over 40. Less than one-tenth are children under 15. One-fifth are between 15 and 40. A survey in Washington, D. C., showed that persons over 50 were five times as likely as school children to be killed while pedestrians by day, six times as likely by night.

Raising a Family

If a Child Can Forget, He Is On The Road to Conquering a Persecution Complex

By Olive Roberts Barton

We hear of "persecution complex" now and then. (a) What is it? (b) Is it important enough to be serious? (c) Will it cause failure? To answer (b) and (c) first, "Yes." And now for (a).

Persecution complex, so called, is that unfortunate conviction that every man's hand is against you. It is caused, first of all, by a feeling of inferiority. Second by outrage, born of a feeling of injustice. It may be the result of the young child being criticized for every mistake he makes. Again it may be shamed into him.

I know a woman who was not only born to the true blue and the manor, but whose husband was extremely rich. She was popular and kind. She was handsome and sweet. But I never met her after she had been away for a week or two that she did not ask at once, "Well, what have you heard against me now?"

I talked to her and told her that she was having hallucinations. No one had said a word against her. She had many friends and it only made her wretched to think such things. It was futile to talk. She never got over the feeling that people would lay her out as soon as her back was turned, which was not true, of course.

"Inferiority" Child Needs Faith. What caused that? I wouldn't know. Probably she was too sensitive as a child and her parents were too critical. At any rate, she had lost faith in herself, which is fatal to real happiness.

Now for the child. He must get used to some roughage. He is also entitled to expect a certain fairness. He cannot always be tormented about the occasional mistakes and never have his pride bolstered at all. He must have a faith in his parents, too, for children suffer vicariously, if they think their mothers and fathers are not respected.

The inferiority child, as I have said, won't ever be entirely cured of it. He simply has to do the best he can. But he won't get any real "complex" or fixed idea about his worthlessness if he can forget.

Too many people are trained to remember. Not enough to forget. There are many, many things best forgotten. To brood and thus add agony is terrible. Let children learn to forget many of the mean things others may do. Don't feel their suspicious. Get the matter off their minds.

That feeling of persecution should be routed as fast as possible. He needs all the faith in human nature he can preserve. After all, it is only hurt pride, self interest and a terrifically exaggerated ego that helps us to

The church of St. Cornelius at Lier, Belgium, is notable not only for its bell tower but also for an extraordinary clock. The church and belfry are shown on the Belgian stamp above, one of a series of eight charity stamps picturing bell towers.

The clock is a masterpiece of mechanism. As it strikes 12 noon, statues of the kings of Belgium and the burgomasters of Lier pass in review. The clock also records movements of the tides and planets and forecasts eclipses.

Magic Medical Bullets Represent Greatest Find In War On Disease

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

(This is the first of a series of 11 articles by Dr. Fishbein on Magic Medical Bullets.)

Among the thousands of drugs, serums, antitoxins, vaccines, vitamins and other preparations used in the prevention and treatment of disease, there are some which are so certain in their action, so positive in their effects, so valuable in their results, as to deserve the name of Magic Medical Bullets.

The term seems to have been coined first at the time Paul Ehrlich, distinguished German-Jewish investigator, discovered "606," later called salvarsan and arsphenamine. When he first discovered this drug, it was characterized by a Latin phrase, "therapia sterilisans magna"—the great sterilizing treatment—because it was believed that the injection of this drug into the blood would cause all germs to disappear from the blood and perhaps also from the body.

It did not take long for scientists to discover that such a claim was unwarranted. But the value of the treatment was unquestioned, and today salvarsan or arsp-enamine is recognized to be one of medicine's most important Magic Medical Bullets.

From time to time, I have been asked to select 10 medical preparations which might be considered the outstanding discoveries in the treatment of disease. The choice is an extremely difficult one, because of the vast number of preparations that are available, and because one is limited to treatment rather than to prevention. There were great medical discoveries both for prevention and treatment before Ehrlich's famous announcement.

Perhaps, first on the list, chronologically, at least, would be the treatment of malaria with quinine; (2) use of digitalis in the treatment of heart disease; (3) ether and chloroform as anesthetics; (4) diphtheria antitoxin; (5) insulin for diabetes; (6) liver extract for pernicious anemia; (7) blood transfusions; (8) vitamin D for rickets; (9) nicotine acid for pellagra; (10) sulfanilamide and sulapyridine.

Next: Quinine in malaria.

Grain Made On

Prices of Grain

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Wheat and corn price gains of a cent a bushel or more today imparted strength to the entire grain market.

Buying based on unfavorable reports of winter crop conditions in the northern hemisphere, particularly from Europe, bolstered wheat while the corn market derived strength from export business and indications that substantial quantities are being stored for loans. Corn export sales were estimated at 500,000 bushels, the best business in more than a week, while more Pacific Coast wheat was sold to the Orient with the help of a government subsidy.

Wheat closed 3/4 cent higher than Saturday, May 97 1/2c to 97 3/4c; July 94 1/2c to 94 3/4c; corn 3/4c to 1 1/4c; cent up, May 56c to 55 1/2c; July 55 1/2c; oats 1/4 cent higher.

Rolla Bricklayers Have Experience; Marshall Optimism
BY ED MILLS
ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 3.—(P)—Unlike Mr. Walt Disney's delightful family of pigs, Rolla's three Mitchell brothers have had no differences over proper building materials. They've been laying bricks for a combined total of more than 150 years. C. H., 81, has been at it 60 years, while G. E., 77, and W. J., 72, each has about a half century to his credit. They've worked on most major buildings in this area. And doubtless would challenge most anyone to huff and puff at their record.

If it was a lone thief who pulled that hot tamale wagon job at Joplin his stomach probably hurt him as much as his conscience. Four dozen were missing when police recovered the cart.

Fire of the week was reported from Crane. A seven-day-old pile of ashes suddenly came to life.

Dr. C. A. Johnson, Dept. 934, 1324 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., a rectal specialist for 28 years, has perfected a mild, painless, inexpensive home treatment for uncomplicated piles in which all sufferers should be interested. If you have piles in any form, be sure and write Dr. Johnson today for free and complete information.—Adv.

Contrasting Springfield's intraparty Democratic scrap comes this word from an observer at Fulton's recent "Kingdom of Callaway" dinner. . . . Larry McDaniel and Dan M. Allen McReynolds who is seeking the same office.

Marshall's educational institutions have little respect for cold weather. . . . During those most frigid days high school youngsters were winding up rehearsals of "Sunny Skies." . . . "It's been a long time since I busted into print, but I've got a lot on my chest and now's a good time to get it off.
"February 8 means the beginning of a new Scout year. It's the 30th birthday of Scouting, and that's a lot of candles on anybody's birthday cake. I'm mighty proud of the record Scouting has made, and I know every Cub, Scout and Scouter is just as proud as I am.

We selected a game committee to make up the games for our next meeting. Then we played a few games which were dodge ball and squirrel in the hole. W. G. ### DREADED TO EAT SO SURE OF SUFFERING AFTER HIS MEALS

Gas Would Crowd His Heart Until He Could Hardly Breathe; Declares "KruGon Gave Him Almost Unbelievable Results"

"For years before I learned of KruGon I had been in a miserable condition," said Mr. J. M. Hayes, 830 W. Monroe St., Springfield, Missouri. "I couldn't eat a single meal without sure suffering afterwards. Often gas would form in such abundance in my stomach and crowd my heart until I could hardly breathe. Naturally I got little satisfaction from my eating in this condition but it seemed I just couldn't get relief from these clogged impurities that were causing my digestive upset. I had been badly constipated for a great many years and with it grew these various complications. I was so nervous I could not sleep, was tired and worn-out all the time and was growing steadily worse. I did not know what next to do when KruGon was brought to my attention."

"In just ten days after beginning KruGon I noticed a great difference in my health," continued Mr. Hayes. "It wasn't long until I had relief from that awful constipated condition and clogged impurities. Now I find a joy in eating of the foods I wish since I do not suffer any ill after effects. Even my daily work is a real pleasing I am feeling so well again. KruGon was a medicine I found I could really depend upon."

KruGon is sold by McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 W. Main St., this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.
